Any act that constitutes fraud under federal or state law, including any intentional dishonesty or misrepresentation made by a person who knew the deception could cause unapproved benefit for themselves or another person.

Performance in 2019

The OIG continues to exceed our performance goals thanks to our teams' outstanding efforts. For fiscal year 2019 our recoveries totaled $421.2 million, a record year for this office. Another $170.7 million was identified for potential future recoveries and $164.1 million was saved in cost avoidance—money that was prevented from being spent.

Investigations completed	19,208
Audit reports issued	38
Inspection reports issued	9
Medicaid and CHIP provider enrollment screenings performed	112,241
Fraud hotline calls answered	27,283
Hospital claims reviewed	18,098
Providers excluded from Medicaid	300

As health care changes, the OIG is adapting to continue to accomplish its mission. The OIG is advancing its work in a managed care environment by using sophisticated data analytics to find potential areas of risk that may warrant a deeper look. We are also committed to finding ways to prevent fraud, waste and abuse from happening in the first place, ensuring taxpayer funds go to help those who need services.

Protecting Taxpayer Dollars

The Office of Inspector General has five main tools for detecting, deterring and preventing fraud, waste and abuse to ensure taxpayer funds for health and human services are properly spent:

- Audits focus on compliance.
- Inspections focus on systemic issues and risk assessment.
- Investigations focus on alleged abusive, wasteful or fraudulent practices.
- Reviews focus on waste and abuse in documentation, billing and payments.
- Data analytics supports all OIG work by identifying trends and outliers for further review.
